

Organization Vice-Presidents Discuss Dishonesty Question

• PROFESSOR George M. Koehl and vice-presidents of campus organizations last week agreed that cheating at the University is not prevalent.

Professor Koehl, chairman of the committee on Academic Dishonesty, spoke to the vice-presidents last Tuesday at Columbian House.

He asked students to curb the gossip about cheating which prevails on campus. "The committee wants facts and actual instances concerning cheating practices," Professor Koehl stated. "Many of the reports of University cheating are not founded on facts. This has been brought out by investigations conducted by the committee."

"Cheating cases reported to the deans during the last examination period were considerably fewer than those reported during the same period last year," Professor Koehl explained.

Some vice-presidents who have attended other schools expressed the belief that there is less cheating here than at similar urban universities.

Several plans for curbing cheating were also discussed. Professor Koehl told the group that the hiring of more proctors would not be profitable. He also explained that it was not possible to hold exams in smaller classrooms because it would necessitate extending the exam period to two and a half weeks. Professor Koehl stated that the ideal setup would be to have at least one proctor for every fifty students.

Mary Ellen Allison, Student Council freshman director, then presented tentative plans for a "College Know How Day" for local high school students which will be held April 6. Formerly the high school students visited the University on May Day, but this year May Day will be strictly an all-University affair to be presented May 6. Plans were also discussed for May Day King and Queen.

• DONALD MYRIK, one of the two student members on the Committee on Academic Dishonesty, appealed to the meeting of vice-presidents of all campus organizations for cooperation in evaluating the benefits of an honor system in examinations here. Students should express opinions in signed letters, he said, in order that the committee can check back for complete information.

Chuck Lillen, Student Council advocate, explained to the group the proposed Student Council Constitution revision which would make the vice-presidents' organization a permanent and important part of student government. Under the revision the vice-presidents' organization could veto any legislation passed by the Student Council which did not meet with the vice-presidents' approval. The revision will be published in The Hatchet in the near future to obtain student opinion on the plan.

Cherry Tree Benefit Ball Leaves Sophomores Happy

By HARRY THAYER

• THE SOPHOMORE CLASS was dealt a full house for the Cherry Tree Benefit Dance held last Friday night at the University. Because expenses had been kept to an absolute minimum, the amount to be realized for the Cherry Tree promise was substantial, though the exact amount has not yet been determined.

Ray Payne and his eighteen-piece band, fifteen of whom were on vacation, gave out with the dance music for the evening. The three remaining pieces included drums (oh, send us back to the jungle), a piano, and a string bass. The bass player was gone after the first selection.

As supplementary musical entertainment, Schickelgruber's six-piece German band presented their version of several popular pieces.

In a desperate attempt to cut costs to the bone, Sophomore class officers, led by President Johnny Graves, became champion spongers, borrowers, "con" men, and light-finger artists.

Several campus merchants were persuaded to donate door prizes (six were awarded) ranging from hamburgers to neckties. The winning numbers were drawn from a hat during intermission. The Student Council was convinced they should donate the red, white, and blue streamers that decorated the club and many students offered their services gratis to decorate, make posters and boost publicity.

As one of the upper classmen expressed it as he left the dance, "the Sophomores certainly deserve credit for putting on one of the most successful class dances at G. W."

Tall Tale Contest Keynotes ISA Party

• PAUL BUNYAN tradition will be the theme of a party to be given by the Independent Students Association March 25 at Sligo Cabin. In connection with the affair the association is sponsoring a Tall Tale Contest, the winner of which will be guest of honor at the party.

Entries should be about 30 to 400 words in length, written in the Bunyan tradition, and submitted in the ISA mailbox in the Student Union Annex. The executive committee of the association will judge the competition.

All independents are invited to attend the ISA meeting February 26 at 8:15 p.m. in Columbian House, where further details on the Paul Bunyan party and contest will be discussed.

ISA held a Birthday Party last night at the Veterans Club for "George" who appeared, wearing a night gown and cap, in time to cut his cake.

Independents interested in joining this association may do so at the ISA office in the Student Union Annex, where Ken Folse, president, holds office hours.

Director of 'The Inspector-General' Graduated in Law, Turned to Drama

By DONALD ROSS

• ANDREW NILLES, of the University, Speech Department, will direct "The Inspector-General," the George Washington Players' first production of 1949. The play is scheduled for March 11 and 12, and the curtain will rise in the Lisner Auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

Nilles received his theatrical training while at college and later at the University of Wisconsin. He later graduated in law from the De Paul University, Chicago, and entered the legal profession. While doing so he worked in a theatrical enterprise that produced plays and musicals for years and professionals. (They succeeded in doing a very unique thing; they managed to make the whole season before it opened.)

Nilles, who was at Villanova, was fortunate in being able to work under the great D. W. Griffith, director and producer of "Birth of a Nation." Apparently he was not satisfied with the law alone as a career because he was continually venturing into theater, working and studying under directors all over the Middle-West.

He entered the Army in 1942. During the years 1945 and 1946, while still in the Army, he acted as associate director of the Mount Vernon Players, under the directorship of Ed Mangum. (See NILLES, Page 3)

Adventures In Understanding' Pi Lambda Theta Lecture

• "ADVENTURES IN Understanding," were explored Dr. I. E. F. Williams who spoke to Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary education fraternity for women, and guests at 8 p. m. Wednesday, February 23. This address was tenth of the annual Ruediger Lectures held each year as a tribute to the late Dean William Carl Ruediger, head of the School of Education for 23 years, and founder of the University chapter of Pi Lambda Theta.

In his talk Dr. Williams condemned modern society for spending a greater amount of money on wars designed to force an understanding of world problems and needs than the amount spent on education intended to create this understanding.

Of these policies, that set forth by U. N. E. S. C. O. was commended most highly. The attempt of

Positions Available On Hatchet Staffs

• STAFFS OF THE University Hatchet will hold meetings tonight at 8:30 p.m., and Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. There are still openings on the staff for news reporters and rewrite men.

Radio Players Present UWF Prize Script

• "A NIGHT IN Plainville" by Rome Cowgill Krulevitch was presented by the Radio Workshop of George Washington University February 16 at 9:30 p.m. over station WCFM, with the co-operation of Miss Maryann McClain, director of Public Relations for WCFM.

This broadcast, second of a series, was a prize-winning script of the United World Federalists, Inc., and was first presented by the American Broadcasting Company in 1946.

The first script presented by the Workshop, "Conspiracy Out of Space," was heard at 9:30 p.m. December 25 over WCFM. The series of scripts was written and produced in order to alert the nation to the need for action toward world peace.

Last Wednesday's show was directed by Walt Robbins and included Warner Schreiner, Roger Price, Pearl Wolman, George McGuiness, Maxine Loomis, Pattie Hines, Ronald Ross, Guy Fullerton, Pete Smith, and Bob Jones in the cast.

Officers will be elected at a business meeting of the Radio Workshop in Studio A of Lisner Auditorium Thursday, February 24, at 2:45 p.m.

ODK Fetes Dignitaries At Banquet

• MAJOR EVENT of the year for Alpha Delta Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's national honorary fraternity, will be a smorgasbord dinner and reception in the Dining Room of Welling Hall Friday evening at 8:30. Active ODK's on campus expect the attendance of many members of the faculty, including President Marvin, Deans Kayser, Koenig, Felker, West, and Burns, as well as ODK members prominent in civic activities such as Robert Fleming, president of the Riggs National Bank and Judge Myers of the local Court. Tuffy Leemans, former University football star; "Red" Auerbach, coach of the Washington Capitols' professional basketball teams, and others in the sports world have indicated their desire to be present.

Slated to the first of a series of annual affairs, this dinner will be under the direction of Circle President Frank Cullen with the help of ODK members Vinnie DeAngellis and John Busick.

Plans for coming activities will be announced at that time. Student members of the Circle active in planning this event include Frank Cullen, Jack Voneiff, Chuck Lillen, Jim Van Story, Jack Dwyer, Dave Shapiro, Bill Canfield, Embrey, Dick Generali, and Bill Warner.

Vinnie DeAngellis, assistant business manager for the University, is in charge of reservations. All ODK's in the University, whether members of this circle or not, are urged to call Mr. DeAngellis and place a reservation early due to limited accommodations.

Alumni Receive Unbound Cherry Tree

• UNBOUND COPIES of the 1940 Cherry Tree will be sent to all alumni according to General Ulysses S. Grant, III, vice-president of the University. Purchase by the University of these unbound copies will so reduce the unit cost that bound copies will be available for $1.50, General Grant said. This is a trial plan, he added, which has been approved for one year only. The plan was approved by President Marvin with the understanding that it will contain a chronological record of the year's events.

Low Men On The Totem Pole

• AUTHORITIES HAVE REPRIMANDED fraternities here for the low scholastic averages of pledges during the past term. The administration's alarm seems well founded. Fraternities lost as many as 50 percent of their pledges on the scholastic count, all other reasons excluded.

Scholastic requirements for fraternities here are certainly not so high above the all-men's average that it is unduly difficult for the average student to make the grade. Despite the fact that tabulations of the National Interfraternity Conference show that our fraternities rank tenth scholastically in the nation, the trend here has been for fraternity men to follow the general scholastic average of all men students in the University.

Scholastic requirements for fraternity initiation are a new University policy this year. The step should in the long run send the fraternity scholastic average higher than it has been. The step is in line with a general trend throughout the country. Fraternities are becoming more aware of the fact that they can best justify their existence by proving that they can at least hold their own scholastically, if not top the scholastic totem-pole. In the past year, national fraternity conventions have in some cases raised their scholastic requirements for initiation to the neighborhood of minimum requirements already held by their own chapters on this campus.

Scholarship is not out of mind, however much fraternity men carry on with rush parties that might suggest they never study. No one is more concerned over the great number of pledges with poor grades than the fraternities themselves.

Closer check on pledges in their studies could be attempted. If supervised study hours are not practical because in this metropolitan institution so many pledges live too far from fraternity houses, then some check during the school term seems to be the only solution. If pledges were expected to have instructors give grades on all midterms and quizzes, to be carried back to their respective fraternities, not only would the pledges themselves know where they stood

"WASHINGTON is the mightiest name on earth—long since mightiest in the cause of civil liberty, still mightiest in moral reformation. On that name no eulogy is expected. It can not be. To add brightness to the sun, or glory to the name of Washington is alike impossible. Let none attempt it. In solemn awe we pronounce the name, and in its naked deathless splendor leave it shining on."

—Abraham Lincoln.

Establishment Of A University

• IT HAS BEEN MY ARDENT WISH to see a plan devised on a liberal scale which would have a tendency to spread systematic ideas through all parts of this rising Empire, thereby to do away with local attachments and state prejudices as far as the nature of things would, or indeed ought to admit, from our national councils—Looking anxiously forward to the accomplishment of so desirable an object as this is, (in my estimation), my mind has not been able to contemplate any plan more likely to effect the measure than the establishment of a University in a central part of the United States to which the youth of fortune and talents from all parts thereof might be sent for the completion of their education in all the branches of polite literature in arts and sciences—in acquiring knowledge in the principles of Politics and good Government and (as a matter of infinite importance in my judgment) by associating with each other and forming friendships in Juvenile years, be enabled to free themselves in a proper degree from those local prejudices and habitual jealousies which have just been mentioned and which when carried to excess are never failing sources of disquietude to the Public mind and pregnant of mischievous consequences to this country:—Under these impressions so fully dilated,—

I give and bequeath in perpetuity the fifty shares which I hold in the Potomac Company . . . towards the endowment of a University to be established within the limits of the District of Columbia, under the auspices of the General Government, if that Government should incline to extend a fostering hand towards it.

—from the will of George Washington.

scholastically, but they would also be aware of the fraternity's interest in their grades. It would be a matter of incentive.

Such a plan of pledge report cards is already past the planning stage for individual organizations. An overall plan, with a uniform report form, should be installed through Interfraternity Council and administration cooperation. Since the Administration through its new scholastic restriction has shown concern, and since fraternity men agree that a loss of pledges comparable to that of this semester would have a crippling tendency, a concrete plan should adopted for all fraternities prior to another examination period.

Letters To The Editors

Light-Blue Pants Yet, He Wants

Dear Hatchet:

In regards to the letter in The Hatchet last week, more enthusiasm among band members could be obtained by the addition of colorful uniforms.

Instead of the "near Salvation Army style," I would suggest light-blue pants, buff jackets or sweaters, and blue garrison caps with buff visor. And let's get it done before the band makes its next appearance at Griffith Stadium.

Sincerely,
A Band Member

Personnel Problem

Dear Hatchet:

I suggest the formation of a definite policy toward the band by the school so that both sides would benefit; the school by having a better band; the band by having an incentive to work harder for the Alma Mater.

My program would be: (1) new band uniforms on a more colorful scale, (2) school and student body support, (3) some sort of scholarship whereby attendance at band functions can be compulsory, (4) adequate and reasonable rehearsal time during week days.

With even part of this program I'll guarantee a better band. We have been trying all year to get adequate instrumentation in the band, but the student body has failed to support our pleas. We have a concert coming up soon. Why don't some of the "pro's" on campus come out and join us so that the band may be improved? Otherwise professionals from out of the University will have to be called in. We have had to do this in the past on many other occasions because of lack of support. We meet on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in Aud. A. So come on out "pro's."

William A. Baker, Jr.
Band Member

Slipped Off The Stick

Dear Hatchet:

If the critics of the letter that appeared in The Hatchet last week will realize that they are only a few of the total students interested in the University Band, perhaps their attitude would be changed. It is not true that the Band receives a budget from the school, part of which is paid by all the students through their activity book fees.

Rather than stand by a default organization, they should unite to make whatever corrections are needed to get current band members back on "the old stick."

Sincerely,
Allen Kylonen

Bigger Band Budget

Dear Hatchet:

My hat is off to the outspoken critic of the GW Band. If we are going to have a band, let's have one that every student will be proud of. With over twelve thousand students paying activity fees, the University should be able to provide funds enough to ensure a favorable impression whenever the Band makes an appearance.

Sincerely,
CWC

Cause For Alarm, Band Prexy States

Dear Hatchet:

The letter that appeared in the last issue of The Hatchet will serve, we hope, to call the attention of the student body to the plight of the George Washington University Band.

The University Band has always been comprised of a volunteer group of students who are interested in playing band music, and who want to help furnish publicity for the school. The Band will continue to be so until the University sees fit to designate it otherwise. The "trouble" with the Band does not lie within its membership, which is one of the most loyal groups on the campus, but with the failure of student musicians who are not in the Band, to support it. There are many valid reasons for this non-support, however. Some students find it impossible to add the time consumed by band practice, appearances, and individual practices to their already much-crowded calendars; others find that this time can be spent in dance bands that pay for their talents. If the Band is to be put on a scale comparable to the fine college bands of the country, some means must be put at our disposal for enticing these people into the Band, and, once getting them, to insure their continued presence.

There is a definite cause for alarm at the state of the Band. If it is to survive, progress must be made. What is needed most at this time is good, constructive suggestions and the interest and support of the student body.

Sincerely,
James W. Crowley
Band President

Ed. Note: Furnishing publicity for the school evidently was not the choice of the band during inaugural festivities. Perhaps the director was among those who found that dance bands are more profitable.

Front Place, He Cries

Dear Hatchet:

It would be only just to mention that the nucleus of the band is comprised of students that are very loyal and self-sacrificing. As a matter of fact, several of the band members have paid for the privilege of playing in the band by substituting physical education credits for time consumed in band practice. Rather than hire fill-ins, would it not be better for the band to work on a few of the suggestions that have been offered, perhaps bringing the students in on their confidence, and together we certainly should be able to help whatever "trouble" the band faces. I feel that I am only one of many students who hope for a change that will put our band in the place it deserves—front place. F. S.

Crowning Of Queen Of Hearts Highlights Sweetheart Ball

By BILL JEFFRIES

• SIGMA PHI EPSILON'S annual Sweetheart Ball will be held this Friday night at the Congressional Room of the Willard Hotel.

Big event of the evening will be the crowning of the Queen of Hearts, the Sig Ep sweetheart for the year. Candidates for this honor are Lee Agee, Billie Buck, Anne Chaney, Kathy Gardner, Helen Johnson, Margie Manning, and Marion Ross. The girls were the guests of the fraternity at a tea last Sunday, where they got to meet all the members, and, as planned, the members got to meet them. Then, Friday night before the dance, the members will ballot their choice for the queen. The decision will be announced at the coronation, which will take place about midnight during the dance. Last year's queen was Marjorie Rhodes, Sigma Kappa, now Mrs. Charles Townsend.

Invitations have been extended to the Interfraternity Council, the Student Council, and the president and social chairman of social fraternities and sororities. Special guests will include Representatives Williams of Mississippi and Horan of Washington.

The dance will be formal, lasting from ten until one. Admission will be by invitation, and music will be furnished by Jack Johnson's Orchestra.

Bennett Speaks on Cold War Before Local Masonic Group

• MASONIC CLUB of the University held its regular monthly meeting last Wednesday in Columbian House. Speaker for the meeting was William Bennett of the State Department. His topic was "Techniques of International Propaganda," and dealt with psychological warfare and the role of the U. S. in the cold war with Russia.

Gene Luther, president of the club, announced the date of the annual Cherry Blossom Drive as March 28 through April 1. Detailed plans are being made, and will be announced at an early date. In discussing the coming drive, Luther expressed appreciation for the support given the drive last year, and added that he hoped that this year's drive would be even more successful.

In connection with the drive, the Educational Committee of the National League of Masonic Clubs has announced that a scholarship, derived from the proceeds of past Cherry Blossom Drives, has been awarded to the University. Formerly limited to students in the School of Government, the scholarship, amounting to $400, is now open to any qualified candidate in any school or field of study offered at the University.

Botany Club Hears Conger on Diatoms

• "OUR LIVES depend on diatoms" stated Paul S. Conker, diatom specialist of the Carnegie Foundation, and speaker at last Thursday evening's meeting of the Botany Club.

Diatoms are a source of vitamin A, a food constituent which reduces the dangers of night-blindness, and are used as an indispensable ingredient in the varnish of car surfaces since diatoms diffuse. Dr. Liman B. Smith, authority on taxonomy, will speak on the "Bromeliaceae" at the next meeting of the Botany Club this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in room 402 of Building "C".

Group Hears UWF Proposals For UN

• WORLD GOVERNMENT Seminar Group heard the plan of the United World Federalists last week at their Wednesday meeting. Speaker for the evening was Mrs. Chamberlain of the U. W. F. chapter here in Washington.

The Federalists' proposal consists of calling a convention of United Nations delegates, as provided in Article 109 of the UN charter, for the purpose of:

1. Enacting world and international laws to maintain peace. Such laws will apply to individuals as well as nations.
2. Establishing a World Court system that would have jurisdiction over every individual in the world.
3. Establishing such world police, inspection and armed forces as may be necessary to enforce world laws and provide for world security.

Donations Push Funds Over Quota

• DONATIONS FROM the Women's Board of the George Washington University Hospital last week, ended a two-year campaign to raise $925,000 for equipment for the new George Washington University Hospital. The donations amounted to $15,500.

The presentation was made last Thursday at a special ceremony in the Board Room of Riggs National Bank, where Robert V. Fleming, honorary chairman of the hospital equipment fund, received a check for the amount of the gift from Mrs. Clyde H. Marvin, president, and Mrs. Barton H. Richwine, assistant treasurer of the board.

Mr. Fleming then presented the check to Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, III, chairman of the campaign, and vice-president of the University.

In making the presentation, Mr. Fleming expressed his appreciation of Mrs. Marvin and the other members of the Women's Board of the University Hospital for the gift and said that the gift had ended the campaign, which is now over-subscribed.

The check contributed by the Women's Board brought the total number of separate contributions to 3948, and brought the total of the campaign to $927,559. The last donation constituted the receipts from a fashion show and a silver tea held by the Board.

Women Riflers Defeat Drexel

• MARGIN OF VICTORY for the Women's Rifle Team in Saturday's shoulder-to-shoulder match against Drexel Institute of Technology was only one point, but it was enough to hand the Tech sharpshooters their first defeat by the Colonials in years.

Sure and steady trigger fingers plus luck combined to give the University's Annie Oakleys a 488-487 win over the Drexel team which was runnerup in national intercollegiate competition last year. Team captain Pat Pope, newcomer Ann Nolte, and dependable Pat Lawlor, shooting in the anchor position, all shot 98 to cancel the singular targets fired by Drexel's Betty Brown, Mildred D'Allo, and Janice Sutherland. Manager Nan Mitchell's 97 balanced the 97 fired by Gloria Boone of Drexel.

Colonials Make It 5 Straight

SCHNIP'S CLIPPINGS

By HERB SCHNIP

• ON A CERTAIN SATURDAY in the winter of 1946, after another George Washington football team had taken its traditional beating from Georgetown, a small group of alumni gathered to lament the sad prospect of football at their alma mater. From this assemblage of post-game quarterbacks was to come a force in the future history of George Washington athletics which was to prove itself something more than complacent moaners. With the simple suggestion that they, the alumni themselves, do something to help correct the sinking athletic situation at George Washington came the spark that was to produce "The Colonials Inc." (All in a period of just two years.) From a nucleus of 35 interested alumni has grown an organization of approximately 175 men who are doing tremendous work to bring to the students of George Washington better athletic teams.

Their stated purpose is simple and blunt—"to find big-league football and basketball talent, and to bring that talent to George Washington."

How do they work? Let us suppose that a football prospect is sent to George Washington for a try-out, having been highly recommended by an alumnus in northeastern Pennsylvania. The "Colonials" are informed that he is staying at Welling Hall. Then, one or more members take a personal interest in him, talk to the player, invite him to their homes, entertain him about Washington, and, in general, attempt to build a desire on the athlete's part to enroll at the University.

But, once enrolled, "The Colonials" concern for the player does not end. Dances and socials are carried on for the benefit of the new Buffmen. The alumni's attempts to entertain, and also to help resolve the problems of their wards continue long after enrollment. And this interest has its reward in the indirect effect of inducing others to come to "G" Street, for it is a fundamental contention of these "Colonials" that a satisfied athlete is the best advertisement in luring new talents to George Washington.

A personal visit to a potential student from an alumnus in a distant city, a letter from a "Colonial" to the parent of a high school griddier, assuring that parent of his son's welfare upon enrolling at George Washington, these are the things that can bring outstanding football talent to the University. In the coming years, as promises of Cadillacs and apartments disappear, George Washington can compete in the bidding by showing this personal interest in the athlete. The organization that will carry out these functions has been formed and is growing.

Temple Handed Upset, 56-47; Marines Also Defeated, 60-58

• GEORGE WASHINGTON'S WINNING STREAK was extended to five games last week as the Colonial cagers upset Temple 56-47 Saturday night in Philadelphia after having edged Quantico 60-58 on Wednesday.

The Buff and Blue turned in another "cooperative" performance in sending Temple to a stunning defeat last Saturday night in Convention Hall, Philadelphia. While the game was marked by ragged play at times, the Colonials, working together, held their own in the first half, and then scored in a barrage of goals that gave George Washington a 10 point advantage. The Owls threatened but failed to come close to the fighting Buffmen who allowed Temple only one field goal in the last seven minutes of play.

Hot Buff Five Battles Hoyas, Then Liners

• TWO ENCOUNTERS with local foes will climax the regular Colonial basketball schedule—Georgetown tomorrow night at the Armory and Maryland Saturday night at the Armory.

To say that the Colonials take on the Hoyas tomorrow night in the second meeting of the two clubs would be a sufficient warning as to what will take place. Tomorrow night will be no exception: the Hill-toppers victors in the other clash, will be anxious to clinch the District cage title; the Colonials meanwhile, will be out to gain revenge for the 53-49 setback and to beat Georgetown for the first time in two years.

If Coach Jug Garber could set his defense against one particular Hoya, the Colonial task might be easier. Anyone of the Elmer Riply quint, however, could be the man to harass the George Washington goal.

Maryland is not dissimilar in having an all-around ball club this year, though Coach Flucie Stewart's quint has not had too much success until recently.

Lenny Small gave a big boost to the Colonial offense as he led the scoring parade with 16 points. His cohort in the scoring department was Bill Cantwell, who led the second half spurt and ended up with 16 points to his credit.

Not to be overlooked, however, was the defensive support that sharpshooters Small and Cantwell received. It was Bus Halthcock who stopped Nelson Bobb completely, allowing the rangy guard no points from the floor. Ace Adler turned in another capable defensive game with his continuous control of the rebounds. Johnny Moffatt was the only Colonial to foul out of the roughly played tilt, whereas a quartet of Templars were on the verge of leaving the game with four personal fouls.

Frat Crown Annexed By PiKA; SAE Falls To Champs, 35-19

• IN THE FINAL week of play in the fraternity basketball leagues SAE won the right to meet PIKA for the Fraternity championship by knocking off previously unbeaten Phi Alpha 31-22. PIKA coasted to an easy 36-12 win over AEPi, and Delta Tau Delta received a scare from winless TEP 23-17.

The big game of the day found both SAE and Phi Alpha undefeated, and the League B title depending on the outcome. SAE making good use of their superior height got off to a fast start and piled up a 16-4 lead at the half, and a 31-22 final score.

In League A, Kappa Alpha pulled away from Kappa Sig in the second half after trailing 11-10 at intermission to win 31-15. Kappa Sig got off to a fast start but were completely stopped in the second half. PiKA, League A champs, piled up a 20-8 lead at half time over AEPi and
